Young Hemlock man wants to solve computer quagmires

Philip Ellison of Hemlock has had enough people ask him "can you take a look at this?" that he's begun a business to answer "yes."

Ellison, 18, has a new computer problem solving business called Quagmire Solutions. Most of his work involves making and helping people use websites. The former Hemlock High School webmaster now answers questions such as, "Why does it take so much time to download this stuff?"

"They call and they just want someone to fix it," he said.

Most of his customers are one-timers but he has about 10 frequent customers.

Ellison works by appointment. He'll attend Lake Superior State University in the fall but said he'll be back often to work with clients.

"With the Internet the way it is, you can do a lot of your business that way," he said.

The e-mail address is info@quagmiresolutions.com and the phone number is (989) 642-2916.
